

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

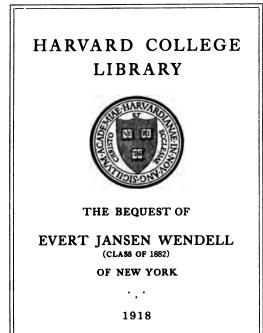

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

INTRODUCTION

The studies for this brief history were prepared for a paper read by Mr. Kelby on November 1, 1904, as a retrospect of the century which had elapsed since the foundation of the Society. The present volume includes the chief points of the "Retrospect," and an appendix gives a list of the publications of the Society and other details of interest in its history.

NEW YORK HISTORICAL SOCIETY

1804–1904

THE plan for the organization of this institution originated with John Pintard, through whose exertions several meetings for the purpose were held in a room of the City Hall, Wall Street, in 1804. After canvassing the matter for some time, the persons who had been invited to take part in the preliminary arrangements appointed a committee to draft a constitution, under which an organization finally took place.

The minutes of the Society contain the following record of the first meeting:

"New YORK, November 20, 1804.

The following persons, vizt.—Egbert Benson, DeWitt Clinton, Rev. William Linn, Rev. Samuel Miller, Rev. John N. Abeel, Rev. John M. Mason, Doctor David Hosack, Anthony Bleecker, Samuel -Bayard, Peter G. Stuyvesant, and John Pintard, being assembled in the Picture Room of the City Hall of the City of New York, agreed to form themselves into a Society, the principal design of

which should be to collect and preserve whatever may relate to the natural, civil or ecclesiastical History of the United States in general, and of this State in particular, and appointed Mr. Benson, Doctor Miller, and Mr. Pintard a committee to prepare and report a draft of a Constitution."

The meeting then adjourned until Monday evening, December 10th, following.

At this meeting the following gentlemen were present:

EGBERT BENSON, Chairman.

De Witt Clinton,	Rev. John C. Kunze,
Rev. John M. Mason,	Rev. Samuel Miller,
Rev. John Bowden,	Dr. Peter Wilson,
Rev. Wiliam Harris,	Peter G. Stuyvesant,
Dr. John Kemp,	John Murray, Jr.,
Daniel D. Tompkins,	Rev. John H. Hobart,
Rufus King,	Dr. David Hosack,
Rev. John N. Abeel,	Dr. Archibald Bruce,
John Pintard.

A constitution was adopted, and the institution was named "The New York Historical Society."

The first regular meeting after the adoption of the constitution was held January 14, 1805, at which time the Society was organized by the election of the following

A Seal was adopted, and later a Vignette for Diploma, by Durand, showing the arrival of Henry Hudson, 1609.

The following short sketch of the lives of the eleven gentlemen who first met on Tuesday, November 20, 1804, may prove interesting:

EGBERT BENSON, first president of the Society was born in this city, June 21, 1746, and died in Jamaica, L. I., August 24, 1833. He was the first

Attorney General of the State, 1777-89, a member of the Continental Congress, 1784-88, and was returned to the First and to the Second Congress. He was Judge of the Supreme Court of New York, 1794-1802, and member of Congress again, 1813-15. He delivered before the Society, December 31, 1816, a memoir on Dutch names of places. Judge Benson served as president until 1815, when he declined a reëlection.

DE WITT CLINTON, vice-president, 1810-16; president of the Society, 1817-19, was born near Little Britain, N. Y., March 2, 1769; died at Albany, February 11, 1828; was graduated from Columbia College, 1786; private secretary to his uncle, Gov. George Clinton, 1790-95; member of Assembly, 1797, and of the State Senate, 1798-1802 and 1806-11; United States Senator, 1802-03; Mayor of this city, 1803-07, 1809-10, and 1811-15, and by his wise and efficient administration contributed much to the prosperity of the city; one of the founders of this Society and the Academy of Fine Arts; first president of the Literary and Philosophical Society; Lieutenant-Governor of this State, 1811-13, and Governor of the State, 1817-22 and 1824-27; initiated the construction of the Erie Canal, 1815; Canal Commissioner, 1816, 1823-24. The opening of the Erie Canal was celebrated with a great demonstration in October, 1825, Gov. Clinton was conveyed in a barge on a triumphal progress from Lake Erie to this city, and on November 4th following proceeded down the bay to the ocean, when Clinton with great solemnity poured from an elegant keg adorned with many devices and inscriptions, and gilded hoops, the waters of Lake Erie into the Atlantic Ocean. The keg, preserved as a precious memento of the interesting ceremony, is in the possession of this Society. Clinton delivered the anniversary discourse before the Society in 1811, which was published.

REV. WILLIAM LINN, D.D., was born in Shippensburg, Pa., February 27, 1752; son of William and Susanna (Trimble) Linn, and grandson of William Linn, who with his son William came from the north of Ireland in 1732, and settled in the township of Lurgan, Cumberland County, William 3d was graduated at the College Pa. of New Jersey, 1772; studied theology with the Rev. Dr. Robert Cooper, and was chaplain of the Fifth and Sixth Battalions. Continental army. He was pastor of the Presbyterian church, Big Spring (Newville), Pa., 1777-84; at Elizabethtown, N. J., 1784-85; of the Collegiate Dutch Reformed church, New York city, 1787-1805; president pro tempore of Rutgers College, 1791-94, and trustee 1787-1808; regent of the University of the State of New York. 1787-1808: chaplain of the House of Representatives, First Congress, 1789-91, and was elected president of Union College, Schenectady, N. Y., in 1804, but not inaugurated. He received the degree of D.D. from the College of New Jersey in 1789. He was married first to Rebecca, daughter of the Rev.

John Blair, vice-president of the College of New Jersey; secondly to Mrs. Catherine Moore, widow of Dr. Moore, of New York city; and thirdly to Helen Hanson. He is the author of "Sermons" (1791), "Signs of the Times" (1794), "Funeral Eulogy on Washington" (1800), and "Sermon on the Death of Alexander Hamilton" (1804). He died in Albany, N, Y., January 8, 1808.

REV. SAMUEL MILLER, D.D., corresponding secretary of the Society, 1805-13, was born near Dover, Del., October 31, 1769; son of the Rev. John and Margaret (Millington) Miller; grandson of Allumby and Elizabeth (Harris) Millington, of Talbot County, Md., and of John Miller, a Scotchman, who immigrated to Boston, Mass., in 1719, where he married Margaret Bass, of Braintree. Samuel received his preparatory education under his father; entered the senior class of the University of Pennsylvania, and was graduated there with first honors, 1789. He was licensed to preach by the Presbytery of Lewes, Del., October 13, 1791, shortly after his father's death, and completed his theological studies under the Rev. Charles Nisbet in 1792. He preached in several churches in Delaware; was a colleague to the Rev. Dr. Rodgers and the Rev. Dr. McKnight in the "Brick" and "Wall Street" church, known then as the First Church, New York city, 1793-1809, and sole pastor of the Wall Street church, 1809-13. He was married October 24, 1801, to Sarah, daughter of the Hon. Jonathan Dickinson and Margaret (Spencer) Sergeant, of Philadelphia, Pa. He was moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in 1806; a founder and director of Princeton Theological Seminary, 1812-13, and Professor of Ecclesiastical History and Church Government there 1813-49, and professor emeritus 1849-50. He was commissioned by Governor Tompkins chaplain of the First Regiment of the New York Artillery in April, 1809. He made strong efforts to promote peace between the two factions of the Presbyterian Church. He declined the presidency of the University of North Carolina and of Hamilton College in 1812. He was a trustee of Columbia College, 1806-13, and of the College of New Jersey, 1807-50. He became a member of the American Philosophical Society in 1800; a corresponding member of the Philosophical Society of Manchester, England, 1804; and a corresponding member of the Massachusetts and New Jersey Historical Societies. He received the honorary degree A.M. from Yale and the College of New Jersey in 1792; D.D. from the University of Pennsylvania and Union College in 1804, and from the University of North Carolina in 1811, and LL.D. from Washington College, Maryland, He published over forty political and in 1847. religious pamphlets. He died in Princeton, N. J., January 7, 1850.

REV. JOHN NEILSON ABEEL, D.D., was born in New York city in 1769. His father, James Abeel, was a major in the Revolutionary army, and served through the war as deputy quartermaster-general. The family descended from Christian Janse Abeel, who was born in Amsterdam in 1631, but came to this country and settled in Albany in 1657. Dr. Abeel's mother, from whom he derived his middle name, was the daughter of an Irish gentleman. John Neilson, M.D., who came from Belfast and practised his profession with success in this city. Dr. Abeel early in life was sent to school in Morristown, N. J., where he was fitted for college. He He studied graduated from Princeton in 1787. law in New Brunswick, in the office of the Hon. William Paterson, LL.D., who afterward became one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States. Later he determined to abandon the law and study for the ministry. Accordingly, he entered his name as a student of theology in the Reformed Dutch Church. Soon afterward, however, he was induced to accept an appointment as a tutor in Princeton, and, while thus employed (1791-93), prosecuted his theological studies under the direction of Dr. Witherspoon, the president of the college. His license to preach was granted to him in April, 1793. Shortly after he entered in the service of the Second and Third Presbyterian churches in Philadelphia. He was called to the Collegiate Church at New York in June, 1795, to become one of its ministers. Here he continued to labor during the rest of his life, although he was frequently asked to go elsewhere. He took a lively interest in educational matters, and in 1799 was elected a trustee of Columbia College, and in 1808 a trustee of Queen's College, and once was called to the presidency of Union College. His degree of D.D. was conferred by Harvard College in 1804. Dr. Abeel married January 29, 1794, Mary Stillé, in Philadelphia. She survived her husband a number of years, and died in New York, January 13, 1826, universally esteemed. They had five children, two of whom died in infancy. In 1809 Dr. Abeel's health began to fail, and he died January 19, 1812.

REV. JOHN MITCHELL MASON, D.D., was born in New York city, March 19, 1770; son of the Rev. John and Catherine (Van Wyck) Mason. He was prepared for college under his father; was graduated at Columbia in 1789; was a student in the University of Scotland, 1791-92, and was recalled to the United States by the death of his father in 1792. He was licensed by the Associate Reformed Presbytery of Pennsylvania, October 18, 1792, and installed as pastor of the Cedar Street Church, New York city, as successor to his father, in April, 1793. He was married May 13, 1793, to Ann, daughter of Abraham Lefferts, of New York city. He visited Scotland in 1801. to obtain competent evangelical ministers for duty in the United States, and in September, 1802, proposed a theological seminary, subject to the direction of the Associate Reformed Church, which movement resulted in the Union Theological Seminary. He established the Christian Magazine in January, 1807, and edited it for several years. He resigned his pastorate in 1810, formed a new congregation, and, while a new church was being built, held meetings in the Presbyterian church on Cedar This action resulted in a charge being Street. brought against him at the meeting of the synod in Philadelphia in 1811, but the synod refused to censure him. He was a trustee of Columbia College. 1795-1821, and provost, 1811-16; travelled in France, Italy, and Switzerland, 1816-17, and resigned his pastoral duties in February, 1821, on account of his increasing infirmities. He was president of Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., 1821-24, and in 1822 transferred his relations from the Associate Reformed Church to the Presbytery of New York, and returned to New York city in 1824. He received the degree of A.M. from the College of New Jersey in 1794, and that of D.D. from the University of Pennsylvania in Author of many essays, orations, and 1804. He died in New York city, December sermons. 26, 1829.

DAVID HOSACK, corresponding secretary, 1814-16; vice-president, 1817-18; president of the Society, 1820-27; was born in New York city, August 31, 1769; son of Alexander and Jane (Arden) Hosack. His father was a native of Moray County, Scotland, who came to America as an artillery officer, serving in the capture of Louisburg in 1758. His maternal grandfather, Francis Arden, was a prominent citizen of New York city. David was a student at Columbia College, 1786-88, and was attacked by the "Doctor's Mob." He graduated at the College of New Jersey, 1789, studied medicine with Drs. Post, Romeyn, Bard. Moore, and Kissam, and received his M.D. degree from the University of Pennsylvania in 1791, and from Edinburgh in 1793. He was married to Catharine Warner, of Princeton, N. J., in 1791. He practised medicine in Alexandria, Va., 1791-92; was a student at Edinburgh and London, 1792-94; and professor of botany, 1795-1811, and of materia medica, 1796-1811, in Columbia College. He was married a second time, December 21, 1797, to Mary, daughter of James and Mary (Darragh) Eddy, of Philadelphia. He attended Alexander Hamilton in his duel with Aaron Burr in 1804. He established in 1822 a hospital, which afterward became Bellevue, and in 1826 joined with Dr. Valentine Mott and Dr. John W. Francis in founding the medical department of Rutgers College, in which he was professor during its existence, 1826-30. He was president of the Horticultural, Literary and Philosophical societies, and originated and in 1801 established the Elgin Botanic Garden, the second in the United States. He was married a third time, shortly before he retired from practice, to Magdalina, widow of Henry A. Coster, a Holland merchant, and spent his summers on his estate at Hyde-Park-on-Hudson, N. Y., where he devoted himself to botanical study. He was expert in the treatment of yellow fever. He received the honorary degree of LL.D., from the College of New Jersey and from Union College in 1818. He was the author of many medical and scientific works. He died in New York city, December 22, 1835.

ANTHONY BLEECKER, second vice-president of the Society, 1820, was born in New York city in October, 1770; son of Anthony Lispenard Bleecker. His father owned a large estate in New York city. In 1791 he was graduated from Columbia College, and subsequently was admitted to the bar. Preferring literary work to the practice of law, he became well known as a contributor of both prose and verse to current literature. He published the "Narrative of the Brig Commerce," which had a wide circulation. In 1810 he was elected a trustee of the New York Society Library, retaining the office until the year before his death, which occurred March 13, 1827. He was a member of the standing committee of the Society 1805-19 and 1821-27.

SAMUEL BAYARD was born in Philadelphia, Pa., January 11, 1767; the fourth son of John and Margaret (Hodge) Bayard. After his graduation from Princeton College, in 1784, as valedictorian, he studied law and established an excellent practice in his native city. He became interested and prominent in politics, and was made Clerk of the Supreme Court of the United States in 1791. From 1794 to 1798 he represented the United States Government in London, as its agent, to prosecute American claims before the admiralty courts. Upon his return he practised law at New Rochelle, N. Y., receiving the appointment of Presiding Judge of Westchester County. From 1803 to 1806 he resided and practised in New York city. He aided in the organization of the American Bible Society and the New Jersey Bible Society. He removed to Princeton, N. J., in 1806, and was a member of the House of Assembly. He died in Princeton, N. J., May 12, 1840.

PETER GERARD STUYVESANT, great-great-grandson of Governor Petrus Stuyvesant, was born in New York city, 1778; graduated at Columbia College, 1794; studied law and was admitted to the bar. He was elected president of the Society in 1836, and served in that office until 1839. He died at Niagara Falls, N. Y., August 16, 1847. His residence, "Petersfield," was built before the revolution, and was situated on his father's "Bouwerie" farm.

JOHN PINTARD, founder of the Society, was born in New York city, May 18, 1759; son of John and Mary (Cannon) Pintard; grandson of John and Catharine (Carré) Pintard and of John Cannon (father of Le Grand Cannon, of Canada), and great-grandson of Anthony Pintard, a Huguenot, who settled at Shrewsbury in 1786, where he was a merchant and a justice of the peace. Both his grandfathers were prominent merchants. On the death of his parents, in 1760, John Pintard was adopted by his uncle, Louis Pintard, a New York merchant. He was prepared for college at Hempstead, L. I., and was graduated at the College of New Jersey, 1776. He was deputy commissary for the prisoners in New York city under his uncle, serving until 1781, and in 1782 became a clerk in his uncle's counting-room. He married, November 12, 1784, Eliza, daughter of Col. Abraham and Helena (Kortright) Brasher, of Paramus, N. J. Mr. Pintard engaged in the East India trade on his own account in 1785; was an assistant alderman in 1789-90, and represented the city in the State Assembly in the following year. He established a museum in 1791, in connection with the Tammany Society. He resided in New York city in 1800, and was engaged in the book trade and auction business. In the winter of 1801 he went to New Orleans, La., where he gathered valuable statistics relating to the territory, which contributed to its purchase. He edited the Daily Advertiser, 1802; was Clerk to the Corporation of New York city, and City Inspector, 1804-09; secretary of the Mutual Insurance Company, 1809-29, and a director of the same, 1829-44. He was secretary of the New York Chamber of Commerce, 1817-27; he was one of the incorporators of the first savings bank that was established in New York city in 1819, and served as its president, 1828-41, when he became blind, and resigned. He was among the first, in 1805, to agitate the "free school system," and was influential in securing the construction of the Erie Canal. He was secretary, 1816-32, and vice-president, 1832-44, of the American Bible Society; a vestryman of the Huguenot church,

New York city, 1810-14; treasurer of Sailors' Snug Harbor, 1819-23; and one of the benefactors of the General Theological Seminary. Pintard Hall, one of the dormitories of the seminary, was erected in his honor in 1885. He received the degree LL.D. from Allegheny College in 1822.

Mr. Pintard was recording secretary of the Society, 1805-19; librarian, 1810-11; treasurer, 1819-27.

At a meeting held October 12, 1816, the Society adopted the following preamble and resolution:

"Whereas, The Historical Society of this State is most materially indebted to Mr. John Pintard for his long-continued, faithful, and important services;

"Resolved, That in testimony of their due consideration of the same, Mr. Pintard be requested to sit for his portrait for this Society."

Mr. Pintard's portrait was painted for the Society by Trumbull, in 1817.

Mr. Pintard died June 21, 1844. The Society, at its regular meeting held October 1, 1844, adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, That in the decease of John Pintard, LL.D., this Society has lost one of its earliest and most devoted friends, one of those, indeed, to whom the institution owes its origin, and much of its usefulness.

"Resolved, That the memory of Mr. Pintard is cherished by the members of this Society, for the many excellent features of his private and public character." Federal Hall, the first home of the Society, stood on the northeast corner of Wall and Nassau Streets, erected in 1700 as the second City Hall, succeeding the first City Hall, or Stadt Huys erected in 1642 on Pearl Street.

In 1788 the Common Council resolved to appropriate the whole of the City Hall to the uses of the General Government, and adopted a plan for the alteration of the building.

The First Congress of the United States met in the reconstructed building on March 4, 1789, when on April 30th Washington was inaugurated first President of the United States. The ceremony took place in the open gallery in front of the Senate-chamber, which looked out upon Broad Street. The Society held meetings in this building until 1809. It has in its custody a section of the iron railing of the balcony, also several chairs and desks used by the officers and members of the first Federal Congress.

Unhappily, this historic building, the most suggestive monument of the events which took place within its old walls, already laden with the memories of a century of occupation and use for public purposes, was heedlessly swept away a few years after it had been decorated by its greatest honor. The edifice was taken down in 1812.

An address to the public, setting forth the objects of the institution, together with several queries as to those points on which the Society requested particular information, was printed in the newspapers of the day. The next publication was its constitution and by-laws, contained in a pamphlet of fifteen pages, published in 1805. These subsequently were printed in the first volume of collections of the Society.

On April 13, 1807, the recording secretary stated that he had in his possession a considerable number of books relating to the history of America, which he was willing to dispose of at the original cost; whereupon the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That the standing committee be authorized to purchase said books for the use of the Society."

The liberal donations subsequently made, together with other purchases, soon formed a creditable library in the department of American history. The prospects of the Society now began to brighten, numerous resident and honorary members were elected, and the patriotic objects of the institution rendered it deservedly popular. Application was made to the Legislature for an act of incorporation, which was passed February 10, 1809.

At the meeting held January 10, 1809, attention was called to the fact that this year was the beginning of the third century since the discovery of this part of North America by Henry Hudson. It was then

"Resolved, That this Society will commemorate this important event, and that the Rev. Dr. Miller, corresponding secretary, be requested to prepare a discourse for the occasion."

A committee was appointed to examine and ascertain the exact date of this discovery, who subsequently reported "that the 'Journal of the Voyage of Henry Hudson,' contained in 'Purchas Pilgrim,' appeared to be the most authentic and satisfactory document on the subject; and that Captain Hudson, who sailed from Holland in the month of March, 1609, discovered and entered the river, since called by his name, on the fourth day of September following."

That day was accordingly designated for the proposed celebration. The use of the front courtroom in Federal Hall was granted to the Society for the occasion, where "the Rev. Dr. Miller delivered a learned and interesting discourse, illustrative of this event, before a large and respectable audience of ladies and gentlemen, among whom were his Excellency the Governor, and the Mayor and Corporation of the city."

After the discourse, in the language of the minutes, "the Society adjourned to the City Hotel, where, together with a number of invited guests, (at four o'clock) they sat down to an elegant dinner prepared by Messrs. Fay and Gibson, consisting of a variety of shell and other fish with which our waters abound, wild pigeon and succotash, the favorite dish of the season (Indian corn and beans), with the different meats introduced into this country by the European settlers."

The following commemorative toasts were drank on the occasion:

1. Christopher Columbus, the discoverer of America. His monument is not inscribed with his name, yet all nations shall recognize it. Its base covers half the globe, and its summit reaches beyond the clouds.

2. Queen Isabella of Spain, the magnanimous and munificent friend and patroness of Columbus.

3. John and Sebastian Cabot, the contemporaries of Columbus, and the discoverers of North America.

4. John Verrazzano. His enterprising genius and his visit about the 20th of April, 1524, to this part of our country deserve to be better known.

5. Henry Hudson, the enterprising and intrepid navigator. Though disastrous his end, yet fortunate is his renown, for the majestic river which bears his name shall render it immortal.

6. The 4th of September, 1609. The day on which Hudson landed on our shores.

7. Wouter Van Twiller, the first Governor of New Netherlands.

8. Peter Stuyvesant, the last Dutch Governor, an intrepid soldier and faithful officer.

9. Richard Nicolls, the first English Governor of the Province of New York.

10. George Clinton, the first Governor of the State of New York.

11. William Smith, the historian of New York.

12. Richard Hakluyt and Samuel Purchas. May future compilers of historical documents emulate their diligence and fidelity.

13. William Stith, Cadwallader Colden, Samuel

Smith, Jeremy Belknap, and George R. Minot, American historians. They have merited the gratitude of their country.

14. The United States of America. May our prosperity ever confirm the belief that the discovery of our country was a blessing to mankind.

15. The State of New York. May it ever be the pleasing task of the historians to record events that shall evince the wisdom of her Legislature and display the virtues of her people.

16. The Massachusetts Historical Society, which set the honorable example of collecting and preserving what relates to the history of our country.

17. Our forefathers, to whose enterprise and fortitude, under Providence, we owe the blessings we enjoy.

Among the volunteer toasts given were the following, after his Excellency the Governor and the Mayor had retired:

By Mr. William Johnson, chairman: The Governor of the State of New York.

By Mr. John Pintard: The Mayor and Corporation of the City of New York.

By Dr. Samuel L. Mitchill: A speedy termination of our foreign relations.

By Col. Jonathan Williams, United States Engineers: May our knowledge of past times teach us to enjoy the present and improve the future.

By Simeon De Witt, Surveyor General: May our successors, a century hence, celebrate the same event which we this day commemorate.

By Dr. David Hosack, Professor of Botany, Columbia College: The memory of St. Nicholas. May the virtuous habits and simple manners of our Dutch ancestors be not lost in the luxuries and refinements of the present times.

By Mr. Nathaniel Pendleton: May the same virtues and the same industry continue in our land which have converted an Indian cornfield into a botanic garden.

By Mr. Anthony Bleecker: The Memory of General Washington.

By Mr. Josiah Ogden Hoffman: Egbert Benson, our absent and respected president.

By Dr. John Bullus, agent United States Navy: The Lieutenant-Governor (John Broome) of the State of New York.

By Dr. Archibald Bruce, Professor of Mineralogy, College of Physicians: The Rev. Dr. Miller. His interesting discourse of to-day affords a pleasing anticipation of his promised history of New York.

By Col. Peter Curtenius, of the New York Artillery: Pierre Van Cortlandt, the first Lieutenant-Governor of the State of New York.

By Mr. Henry Gahn, the Swedish Consul: The Mouth of the Hudson. May it soon have a sharp set of teeth, to show its defense.

By the Recording Secretary: The American Fair, without whose endearing society this western world, the rich inheritance from our enterprising ancestors, would still be a wilderness indeed.

The publication of the first volume of its collections is distinctly due to the enthusiasm produced by this generous banquet. A committee was appointed, after the delivery of the discourse, "to report materials for forming a volume of the proceedings of this Society, together with such tracts relating to the history of this country as may merit republication."

The anniversary meetings of the Society were held on St. Nicholas Day, December 6th. The customary place of dining on these occasions was for several years at Kent's Hotel, 42 Broad Street.

A communication was received from the Academy of Arts, September 9, 1809, inviting the Society to occupy a room in the Government House. The invitation was promptly accepted, and on September 15th the first meeting was held there. The northwest room in the second story of that building was appropriated to the use of the Society. The books, which had been previously kept in the City Library, were removed to the same place.

The Government House, at the foot of Broadway, facing Bowling Green, stood on the site of Fort Amsterdam, which after the conquest was called Fort James, in compliment to the Duke of York; in the reign of William and Mary, Fort William; and in the following reigns, Fort Anne and Fort George. The Government House was originally designed for the residence of Washington, then President of the United States, but as the capital removed to Philadelphia, the house was never occupied by him. It then became the Government House, and was the residence of Governor George Clinton and John Jay, and from 1799 to 1815 used for the Custom-House, when it was taken down and succeeded by a handsome block of houses. The new Custom-House is now in course of erection on this site.

In March, 1810, a petition of the Society, signed by Egbert Benson, president, praying that the Legislature would grant them such aid as they should deem meet and the general interest of the State would permit, to accomplish the objects for which the Society was associated and incorporated, was presented to the Legislature of New York. The following letters from De Witt Clinton and Dr. Mitchell, members of the Senate and Assembly respectively, show the action of that body:

ALBANY, March 22, 1810.

DEAR SIR: I have the pleasure of informing you that the bill for endowing the Historical Society, and killing the wolves and panthers, passed the the Senate this morning without opposition. If the Federal Assembly shall act as liberally as the Republican Senate, it will go down, but I am fearful that your party will be very deficient in this respect.

The Mechanics' Bank bill has passed the Senate with equal unanimity.

I am, dear sir, yours sincerely,

DE WITT CLINTON.

JOHN PINTARD, Esq.

ALBANY, April 3, 1810.

DEAR SIR: I have the mortification to inform you that the bill from the Senate for the destruction of wild beasts, and for the encouragement of history, was this day debated and finally rejected. The vote, in spite of all that the friends of the projects could say, was 43 to 27. I supported it with as good a speech as I could make. But all was in vain. The great objection was that too many lottery jobs had been authorized already, and under this influence the thing would not work. Van Horne made the motion to reject. He ought to be conveyed to his native town in a car drawn by wolves, panthers, and wild-cats.

The public business has rendered it necessary to prolong the session from the 2d instant, as originally agreed upon for the adjournment to Thursday, the 5th. On Saturday I hope to move homeward in the steamboat.

Truly yours, as ever,

S. L. MITCHILL.

John Pintard, in a letter dated August 28, 1812, addressed to the Hon. De Witt Clinton, Mayor of the City of New York, formulated a plan to combine in one building, if possible, with the patronage of the city, the Academy of Arts, City Library, Historical Society, and the American Museum, with some other institutions that ought to be established and promoted, with all that at present exists in this city relating to these subjects, and that by concentrating all our resources we may give a greater impulse and elevation to our intellectual character, and suggested that either the Almshouse, or Bridewell, in the Park, would be suitable buildings for the purpose.

 $\mathbf{24}$

This letter has the following endorsement:

"Memo. Mr. Clinton, on reading this communication, observed 'that the request was too impudent to be submitted to the Corporation!'"

"Never Despair" was the motto used by Mr. Pintard on his book-plate.

He did not despair, for on December 7th of the same year the Society, in conjunction with the New York Society Library and the Academy of Arts, petitioned the Corporation of the city for the use of the Almshouse, or the Bridewell, for the use of the above institutions, and other scientific institutions to be established in this city. Three years later the city authorities set apart the Almshouse for the use of the several institutions, the name of the building being changed to the New York Institution.

The Rev. Dr. Timothy Alden (later President of Meadville College, Pa.), happening to be on a visit to this city, January 11, 1813, offered his services for the preparation of a catalogue, which the Society accepted. The catalogue was printed December 22, 1813, at first separately, and subsequently in the second volume of the collections of the Society.

The catalogue shows that the library consisted at that time of 4,265 titles of books and pamphlets;

 $\mathbf{25}$

234 volumes of United States documents; 130 titles of American newspapers; 134 maps and charts; 30 miscellaneous views; 119 almanacs; a portion of "Sterling Papers," with 48 separate manuscripts; 16 manuscript volumes of the House of Commons, 1650-76; several portraits in oil, and 38 engraved portraits—quite a collection brought together in the nine years of the existence of the Society.

On January 11, 1814, it was "Resolved, that application be made to the Legislature of this State for their patronage of this Society, and that Mr. Clinton be appointed to draft a suitable memorial on the subject."

At the next quarterly meeting, held April 12th, Mr. Clinton informed the Society that, agreeably to their request at the last meeting, he had drawn up a memorial to the Legislature of this State for their patronage, which he presented at the present sessions of both Houses. That a clause granting this Society $12,000, which was included in the bill, entitled "An Act for instituting a Lottery for the promotion of Literature," had passed the Senate, but was non-concurred in in the House of Assembly. Ayes, 41; nays, 44.

This act became a law on April 15, 1814. The following is an abstract of the same:

"Section 51. And be it further enacted, That the managers to be appointed in compliance with the act, entitled 'An Act instituting a Lottery for the promotion of Literature, and for other purposes,' after the payments are completed, according to the several provisions contained in said act, be and hereby are directed to raise the additional sum of twelve thousand dollars in the manner directed in and by the aforesaid act, which sum, when so raised, shall be paid to the Historical Society in the city of New York, for the purpose of procuring books, manuscripts, and other materials, to illustrate the natural, literary, civil, and ecclesiastical history of America."

The Society unfortunately engaged its credit in the purchase of books and of manuscripts before it was known how distant and precarious were the proceeds of this mode of raising money. It thus became involved in a debt which was not extinguished without many and severe sacrifices. It had, however, before its usefulness was impeded by the pressure of this debt, published several volumes of transactions of great value.

The debt incurred by the Society in anticipation of the funds to be received from this lottery amounted to several thousand dollars, and was chiefly assumed by the librarian, Dr. John W. Francis, to whom a mortgage on the property of the Society was executed by way of security. At length, after a long-continued struggle with pecuniary embarrassments and difficulties, an arrangement was entered into with Union College, by which the Society agreed to take eight thousand dollars in cash for its lottery interest, out of which sum, in 1823, the debts were paid.

Many valuable additions were made during the time that Dr. Francis officiated as librarian. Among the original papers, the military correspondence of Gen. Horatio Gates was secured, July, 1816, through the influence of the celebrated Robert Fulton, then a resident member of the Society. The papers had been bequeathed by General Gates to Joel Barlow, who contemplated writing a history of the Revolution; but on the death of Barlow, in Europe, his widow had been induced by Mr. Fulton to transfer them to the Society.

A special meeting of the Society was called August 13, 1814, in consequence of the exposed situation of this city to invasion by the enemy, and the danger attending a state of siege and possible bombardment.

The Society, taking the matter into serious consideration,

"Resolved, That the library of this Society be packed up in suitable boxes, ready to be removed and sent to some secure place up the Hudson River in case of necessity, and that Dr. Mitchill, Dr. Francis, and the Rev. Mr. Alden be a committee to carry this resolution into effect."

On January 14, 1815, Dr. Francis reported "that, in conformity with the resolution passed at the last meeting of the Society, the committee had caused all the most valuable and scarce books in the library to be carefully packed in portable cases. But that, happily, the campaign of 1814 had passed by without a necessity for removing them from the dangers of an hostile attack on this city. As, however, a similar cause may exist should the war between the United States and Great Britain continue, it was recommended to leave the books packed up ready for removal in case of emergency."

On June 15, 1815, Mr. Pintard reported that "the Corporation of the city, on May 22d last, had appropriated the Almshouse, in rear of the City Hall, when no longer required for public use, to the several literary and scientific societies which had petitioned for their patronage. That the new almshouse established at Bellevue would be completed for the reception of the tenants of the present almshouse in the course of this year.

"And, further, that as the Corporation had resolved to sell the Government House and ground thereto belonging, the fee-simple of which had been purchased from the State, it is necessary to remove the library of the Society to some place until possession can be obtained of the apartments to be allotted to the Society in the New York Institution, formerly the Almshouse. The library of the Society was temporarily stored in the store of Capt. James Farquhar, in Vesey Street, together with the pictures, casts, busts, etc., belonging to the Academy of Arts, until their removal in 1816 to the New York Institution."

The Hon. Gouverneur Morris, who had been vice-president, 1810-15, was elected president of the Society, at the annual meeting held January 9, 1816.

At a meeting held July 30, 1816, the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That the Society commemorate the discovery of this part of the Continent of North America by Hudson in 1609, on Wednesday, the fourth day of September next, being the 207th anniversary of this memorable event. And that the inauguration of the Hon. Gouverneur Morris, president-elect of this Society, take place on that day, at twelve o'clock, and that suitable accommodations be provided for the ladies who may honor the Society with their presence on that occasion."

Through the courtesy of Mayor Radcliff the Society assembled at eleven o'clock on September 4th in the Sessions Court-Room in the City Hall, where the formal inauguration of Mr. Morris as president of the Society took place.

Gouverneur Morris, statesman and orator, was born in Morrisania, January 31, 1752; died there, November 6, 1816; graduate of Kings College (now Columbia), 1768; member of Continental Congress, 1777-80; United States Minister to France, 1792-94; he succeeded in 1810 the Hon. Brockholst Livingston as vice-president of the Society.

The Society, on November 12, 1816, adopted the following resolution on the death of Mr. Morris:

"Resolved, That, as a tribute of respect to the memory of the Hon. Gouverneur Morris, deceased, late president of the Society, the members wear the accustomed badge of mourning for thirty days."

The Society met for the first time in the New York Institution, late Almshouse, July 9, 1816, occupying two rooms adjoining each other, on the first floor, on the southerly side of the building, and on the easterly side of the middle entry, with same accommodation in the basement. The premises were leased to the Society by the Corporation of the city for a term of ten years dating from April 1, 1815, at a yearly rent of one peppercorn, "if lawfully demanded." The other occupants of the building were the Literary and Philosophical Society, the American Academy of Fine Arts, the Lyceum of Natural History, and Scudder's American Museum. The edifice was erected in 1795, and was 260 feet long by 44 broad, with two projections in front, 15 by 20 feet each, and was composed of brick, three stories high, with a basement, and with no claim to beauty.

Owing to the fact that the New York Society Library had decided not to occupy rooms allotted to them in the New York Institution, by the Corporation of the city, the Historical Society requested from the Corporation of the city these additional rooms, for the establishment of a mineralogical cabinet and other purposes. This request was granted, and two southerly rooms on the west side of the middle entry, opposite to the rooms already occupied by them, were set apart. It was made a condition that the Society also accommodate the American Bible Society with the use of a room for their meetings.

Dr. Mitchill, De Witt Clinton, and Col. George Gibbs were among the most zealous amateurs of natural science. Col. Gibbs, who was chairman of the mineralogical committee, was particularly active in promoting the collection of minerals and specimens of natural history. A series of lectures was established February 11, 1817, on zoölogy, geology, vegetable physiology, mineralogy, chemistry, and philosophy. The growth of this department became so large, and predominated over the real purposes of the Society to such an extent that in 1829 it was decided to present the collection to the Lyceum of Natural History, organized February 24, 1817, for the exclusive pursuit of those branches of science.

The Hon. De Witt Clinton, vice-president of the Society, 1810-16, succeeded the late Gouverneur Morris as third president of the Society, January 14, 1817.

The Chamber of Commerce of New York, at a meeting held November 7, 1769, had requested its president to ask David Rittenhouse and Capt. John Montressor to take the latitude of the southwest bastion of Fort George. At a meeting of this Society, held June 10, 1817, an abstract of these minutes of the Chamber was read by Mr. Pintard (then secretary of the Chamber). On motion, John Pintard, Dr. John Griscom, and Dr. Samuel L. Mitchill were appointed a committee to prepare a memorial to the Common Council, for the erection of a monument to mark the site. The Common Council reported in favor of the Society's memorial, and in the following year erected a block of white marble, properly inscribed, on the site of the southwest bastion. On July 30, 1905, this relic was unearthed by laborers in the subway excavation in Battery Park. The Society has secured the custody of the monument, with a view to its reerection in the near future. The original inscription for the monument, as proposed in 1817, is in the archives of the Society.

An extensive and valuable cabinet of coins and medals was presented to the Society, July 14, 1818, by the heirs of Rev. Dr. John C. Kunze, pastor of the Lutheran Church in Frankfort Street, 1784-1807. This collection was stolen from the Society a few years after its reception, nothing remaining but the cabinet which held the coins and medals.

Dr. David Hosack, corresponding secretary, 1814-16, and vice-president, 1817-18, became the fourth president on the retirement of De Witt Clinton, January 11, 1820. He was one of the eleven who met to organize the Society, November 20, 1804.

Owing to the prevalence of yellow fever, no meetings of the Society were held during the months of August, September, and October, 1822.

General Lafayette and his son, George Washington Lafayette, were elected honorary members, August 18, 1824, and at a special meeting held the following day a reception was tendered to these gentlemen. Addresses were made by the president, Dr. Hosack, and General Lafayette. The Society has two portraits of Lafayette, one painted in France, and presented to the Society by Gen. Ebenezer Stevens, October 7, 1817. Also the portrait painted from life in 1825, by Ingham, and is the original head from which was made the fulllength portrait for the State, presented to the Society by the artist.

A communication was read at the meeting December 14, 1824, from James Renwick and William Gracie, a committee appointed by the Associates of the New York Athenæum for the purpose of conferring with the Historical Society, the Society Library, and the Trustees of Columbia College on the subject of a union of their several interests (in such a way as to form one great public library), requesting this matter to be brought before the Society with the view to the appointment of a committee of conference in its behalf. A committee was appointed, consisting of Dr. Hosack, chairman, and Anthony Bleecker and Colonel Stone.

At a meeting held February 8, 1825, Mr. Bleecker informed the Society that "the abovementioned committee had met the committee of the other institutions, and that a project is contemplated to be laid before the several institutions for the purpose of effecting this union." This attempt of consolidation of the various institutions was not successful.

Notwithstanding the liberal grant of the Legislature, the Society became again seriously embarrassed by debt, and so desperate was its condition regarded, that at a meeting held April 12, 1825, on motion of Dr. De Kay, seconded by the Rev. Mr. Jones, it was

"Resolved, That it is expedient that a committee of members be appointed to endeavor to extricate this Society from its present embarrassments, with full powers to bargain, sell, and convey (either in whole or in part, as circumstances may require) the property belonging to the Society (except donations), and to use any other means which they may deem proper for the obtaining of that object."

At a special meeting held on Saturday, April 16, to take action on the above resolution, the following committee was appointed: Dr. De Kay, Rev. Cave Jones, Anthony Bleecker, William Gracie, Benjamin Haight.

The committee reported, May 28, that the whole debt of the Society amounted to $7,500. To pay off this debt, the committee made arrangements for the sale, in whole or in part, of the library. Many offers were received, among them one from Mr. Isaac S. Hone, making an offer to purchase the library, with the intention of presenting it to the New York Athenæum.

This offer led to serious results. The committee did not consider they had authority to sell the whole library, and therefore called a meeting of the Society to obtain further power.

A resolution ordering the sale of the property of the Society was adopted at the June 14, 1825, meeting by a vote of ten to six. Previous to the question being taken on the resolution, Dr. Hosack, the president, tendered his resignation, and Colonel Trumbull took the chair. After the question on the resolution was acted on, Colonel Trumbull also tendered his resignation of the office of second vice-president, and, together with Dr. Hosack, withdrew. Dr. De Kay and Mr. Gracie resigned as members of the committee; Mr. Frederic de Peyster and Mr. Joseph Blunt were appointed to the vacancies. This was the last meeting of the Society until March 14, 1826, when, according to the minutes, Dr. Hosack presided, and Colonel Trumbull was recorded as present as vice-president. Evidently the Society had taken no action on the resignations of these gentlemen as president and vice-president.

On January 13, 1827, a memorial setting forth the financial difficulties of the Society was submitted, and Mr. Frederic de Peyster was requested to present it at Albany. Mr. de Peyster accordingly repaired to Albany during the session of 1827, and, with the aid of Governor Clinton, succeeded in obtaining a grant of five thousand dollars, on condition that the debts of the Society should be so reduced as to render that sum sufficient to liquidate them altogether. This liberal donation was received in April, 1828, and, upon the nomination of Mr. de Peyster, the members of that Legislature were elected honorary members of the Society.

Another attempt to house all the literary and scientific societies in the city in one building was made at a public meeting held in the Common Council Chamber, May 17, 1827.

It was proposed to apply to the Corporation of the city for a lease for ninety-nine years of the building known as the New York Institution, City Hall Park, to be appropriated for the accommodation of the New York Historical Society, the New York Horticultural Society, the Literary and Philosophical Society, the American Academy of Fine Arts, the New York Lyceum, the New York Athenæum, the New York Society Library, and the Law Library Association.

This plan was abandoned, the anticipated aid not having been obtained, and small encouragement being held out to those directly interested in the measure suggested for carrying out fully and appropriately a design so important to the various institutions throughout the city and to the public at large.

On January 15, 1828, the Hon. James Kent, LL.D., succeeded Dr. Hosack as the fifth president of the Society.

James Kent, jurist, was born in Doanesburgh, N. Y., July 31, 1763; died in this city, December 12, 1847; graduated at Yale College, 1781; studied law with Egbert Benson; admitted to the bar, 1785; member of Assembly, 1791-93 and 1796; Professor of Law in Columbia College, 1793; Recorder of this city, 1797; Judge of Supreme Court, 1798; Chief Justice, July, 1804; and Chancellor, 1814-23; author of "Commentaries on the United States Constitution," and a treatise on the city charter and the powers of the municipal officers. He was not only an eminent jurist, but was one of the first legal writers of his time. His anniversary address before the Society, December 6, 1828, was published in 1829.

Three volumes of collections had already been published; a fourth was added in 1828, containing a continuation of Smith's "History of New York" to the year 1762, from the original manuscript of the author, presented for the purpose by his son, William Smith, of Quebec. The first volume, extending to 1732, was printed in London in 1757. The Society, in 1829, reprinted both volumes in a uniform edition, under the supervision of Dr. Francis, John Delafield, and Dr. Hosack. A memoir of the author, written by his son, was prefixed to this edition.

The publications of the Society at this period were numerous. Among them may be mentioned the catalogue of the library, memorials to the Legislature with accompanying documents, Dr. Hosack's memoir of Hugh Williamson, delivered before the Society, and the annual addresses of Chancellor Kent, William Sampson, Joseph Blunt, and William Beach Lawrence. The discourse of the venerable Egbert Benson, the first president of the Society, delivered in 1816, was printed at his own expense. This circumstance arose from objections having been made to certain portions of the discourse by individuals who were desirous they should be omitted if published by the Society. At these suggestions Judge Benson took offence, as appears from some remarks relating to the subject published with the memoir. He printed a new edition, with copious notes, in 1825, at Jamaica, Long Island. Judge Benson's discourse is a remarkable production, both as to matter and style.

It professedly treats of local names in this State, whether of Indian or European origin.

In 1829 the Corporation of the city notified the Society that the rooms occupied by them were needed for the use of the city. Notwithstanding this notice, the Society received an extension of time, and did not remove until three years later.

At the annual meeting, January 10, 1832, the Hon. Morgan Lewis was elected the sixth president of the Society.

Morgan Lewis, son of Francis Lewis, signer of the Declaration of Independence, born in New York, October 16, 1754; died there, April 7, 1844; graduate of the College of New Jersey, 1773; He studied law in the office of John Jay; was Major of the Second Regiment New York City Militia, Col. John Jay, November 3, 1775; Colonel and Deputy Quartermaster-General in the Northern Department of the Continental Army, September 12, 1776, to the close of the war of the American Revolution. Admitted to the bar after the war, he practised in Dutchess County; member of Assembly 1789-90 and 1792; Attorney-General of the State, 1791; Judge of Supreme Court, 1792; Chief Justice in 1801; Governor of the State, 1804-07, State Senator 1811-14; Major-General in the War of 1812.

In this year the Society received its first legacy, amounting to $300, a bequest of Isaiah Thomas, journalist and author, and founder of the American Antiquarian Society of Worcester, Mass., who died April 4, 1831. The principal is still held intact, and is known as the "Isaiah Thomas Fund."

Having occupied rooms in the New York Institution sixteen years by a gratuitous lease from the city, on April 19, 1832, the Society took possession of the third floor of the new building erected by Peter Remsen, and known as the Remsen Building, at the southwest corner of Broadway and Chambers Street. On this occasion a discourse was delivered by William Beach Lawrence. This change of location proved unfavorable to the interests of the Society. The rent of the hall, and other expenditures, led to the creation of a new debt. The treasurer, John Delafield, generously assumed full responsibility for the amount.

During the period July, 1833, to December, 1835, inclusive, no minutes of the meetings are preserved.

Peter Gerard Stuyvesant was elected the seventh president of the Society, at an annual meeting held in the Remsen Building, January 3, 1836. Mr. Stuyvesant was the great-great-grandson of Governor Petrus Stuyvesant; was born in 1778; died August 16, 1847. Mr. Stuyvesant was one of the original eleven who met on November 20, 1804, to organize the Society.

Measures were now taken for relieving the Society from its embarrassments. The treasurer was authorized to raise one thousand dollars on the credit of the institution, and a committee was appointed to select a new location. Several offers were made at this period, by different public institutions, for the gratuitous accommodation of the Society; among them was the Stuyvesant Institute, an association for literary purposes, by whom a building had been erected at 659 Broadway, opposite Bond Street, September 1, 1837. The offer was accepted. In the summer of 1837 the Society removed to its new quarters, with a generous lease of two spacious rooms for the term of ten years.

Active measures were now taken to restore the prosperity of the Society. A public course of historical lectures was determined upon, which was commenced in January, 1838, by a brilliant discourse by the Rev. Dr. Francis L. Hawks, before a crowded assemblage in the spacious lecture-room of the Stuyvesant Institute. This was followed by a series of lectures, chiefly from members of the Society, which was fully attended. The pecuniary proceeds of this course of lectures sufficed to extinguish the debts of the Society.

At the meeting held April 10, 1838, a resolution was adopted by the Society to memorialize the Legislature on the subject of collecting materials in Europe illustrative of the history of New York. The memorial was approved at the meeting held January 8, 1839, presented to the Legislature the same month, and forwarded to that body by a special message from Governor Seward on February 5th following. It was adopted with great unanimity. John Romeyn Brodhead was appointed by the Governor and Senate the agent of the State under the act passed. As a result of his labors abroad, the State has published ten large folio volumes and index, of the highest importance not only to the student, but to the public at large. Besides this attention to the views of the Society, the Legislature, in compliance with another recommendation, ordered the publication of the journals of the New York Provincial Congress and Convention, together with the proceedings of the Committee of Safety, from May, 1775, to the adoption of the State Constitution.

The semi-centennial anniversary of the first inauguration of George Washington was celebrated by the Society, April 30, 1839. The Hon. John Quincy Adams, the sixth President of the United States, was selected as the orator. Mr. Adams arrived in town from Washington on Monday, April 29th, and in the evening met a large number of the members of the Society at its rooms. From thence the company repaired by invitation to the residence of Mr. Stuyvesant, president of the Society, where a sumptuous entertainment was provided for the occasion.

On Tuesday, at eleven o'clock A.M., the Society with their guests assembled at the City Hotel, where a large number of citizens joined them in paying their personal respects to the venerable orator of the day, and to the Revolutionary veterans, who, disregarding the infirmities of age, had once more rallied in honor of their beloved chief.

At twelve o'clock the company moved in procession to the Middle Dutch Church, where an immense concourse of people was assembled. A temporary stage was erected in front of the pulpit for the convenience of the guests. Peter G. Stuyvesant presided. The exercises were opened by prayer by the Rev. Dr. John Knox, associate pastor of the Collegiate Dutch Church, followed by an ode written for the occasion by William Cullen Bryant.

The address of Mr. Adams, entitled "The Jubilee of the Constitution," by the extraordinary ability, learning, and eloquence which it displayed, fully sustained the most sanguine anticipations of the friends of the distinguished orator. The exercises were concluded with a prayer and benediction by the Rev. Dr. Jonathan M. Wainwright, of Trinity Church.

At six o'clock P.M. the company reassembled at the City Hotel, and about two hundred persons sat down to a dinner prepared in the best style of that well-known establishment. Thirteen regular and twenty-one volunteer toasts were tendered, and two odes by Grenville Mellen and William Cutter were read by the authors.

In the course of the evening a fine transparency representing old Federal Hall, formerly standing on the corner of Wall and Nassau Streets, the scene of Washington's inauguration, was disclosed by the withdrawal of a curtain at the upper end of the hall, and produced a brilliant effect. The figures of Washington and Chancellor Livingston were seen in the balcony, the one laying his hand upon the book, while the other administered the oath of office.

On the approach of the centennial of the same event, the Executive Committee was directed to formulate a plan for a suitable celebration of the occasion. This action on the part of the Society was followed by similar action on the part of the Chamber of Commerce and the Society of the Sons of the Revolution. The final result was the appointment of a citizens' committee, who took charge of the whole affair.

Peter Augustus Jay, LL.D., succeeded Mr. Stuvvesant, as the eighth president of the Society, January 14, 1840. Mr. Jay was born in Elizabethtown, N. J., January 24, 1776, and was the eldest son of John Jay, the statesman. He was graduated from Columbia College in 1794, and accompanied his father to England, acting as his private secretary. On his return to New York he studied law, attaining great distinction soon after his admission to the bar. He was a member of the State Assembly in 1816; Recorder of New York, 1819-20. He presented to the Society many books and publications of the colonial period. Mr. Jav died in this city February 20, 1843.

The Society was again forced to move, in consequence of the sale of the Stuyvesant Institute under a foreclosure of a mortgage. In this emergency Mr. Peter G. Stuyvesant offered to convey to the Society two lots of ground fronting on Stuyvesant Street, 40 by 70 feet, on condition that the lots be held in perpetuity by the Society, and that the amount of $18,000 be raised by the Society on or before May 1, 1841, for the erection of a building on the site offered. It was deemed inexpedient, however, to attempt to raise the amount of money required for this object.

In the meantime a liberal proposal from the New York University was accepted. On April 6, 1841, the Committee on New Location reported that accommodations could be obtained in the New York University on the following terms.

"The library to be placed in the room occupied by the University library, second floor above the basement and on the same floor with the chapel. The standard books of the University to remain in a case to be provided by the University.

The gallery above to contain the cabinet and museum of the Historical Society and of the University, and such books and pamphlets as the two librarians might think proper.

All books of each library to be open to the University and the Historical Society, under regulations to be adopted by the librarians, under the advice of their several committees.

The expense of placing the library in the building to be borne by the Society. The expense of lighting, fuel, servants' hire, etc., to be equally divided between the University and the Society.

The salary of the assistant librarian, including any charges for necessary assistance, to be equally divided; and in the settlement of the yearly account for such expenses, one hundred dollars to be allowed to the University.

The large or the small chapel to be used for lectures by the Society on the most liberal terms which the University could afford to any association or individual."

The Society, on May 22, 1841, accepted the liberal offer of the New York University, and a committee was appointed to complete the arrangements.

On October 5th following the Society held its. first meeting in the rooms of the University. At this meeting a communication from the Secretary of the Board of Trustees of the New York Society Library, dated May 12, 1841, was read, enclosing the following resolutions of that body:

"Resolved, That it appears inexpedient to this Board to make arrangements with the Historical Society according to the terms contained in the report of the committee, submitted to this Board on the 19th of April last.

"Resolved, That this Board would have no objection to a union of the New York Society Library with the Historical Society, upon such terms of equality as would best promote the interests of both institutions and the cause of literature.

"It having been suggested that the Historical Society may speedily require different apartments from those which they now occupy,

"Resolved, That the use of one of the basement stores be tendered to the Historical Society for the deposit of their property until they can obtain suitable accommodations."

A vote of thanks was tendered to the New York Society Library for their offer of the use of their basement store, and the offer was respectfully declined.

At the annual meeting of the Society for the election of officers, January 3, 1843, it was announced that the Hon. Peter Augustus Jay declined a reëlection to the office of President. The vacancy was filled by the election of the Hon. Albert Gallatin, LL.D., as the ninth president.

Mr. Gallatin was born in Geneva. Switzerland, January 29, 1761, and died at Astoria. L. I., August 12, 1849. He was a member of the Pennsylvania State Convention of 1789, and of the Legislature, 1790-92; member of Congress, 1795-1801; Secretary of the United States Treasury, 1801-13; Commissioner to St. Petersburg, 1813; Commissioner to Ghent, where the treaty of peace was made, December 24, 1814; Minister to France, 1815-23; Envoy Extraordinary to Great Britain, 1826-27; President of the Council of the New York University, 1830; President of the New York National Bank, 1831-39: a founder and first president of the Ethnological Society, 1848; author of several works on the Indians and finance.

The fortieth anniversary of the Society was celebrated on November 20, 1844, by an address by John Romeyn Brodhead, delivered at six o'clock in the evening in the Church of the Messiah, Broadway, opposite the then newly erected New York Hotel. After the address the members and guests adjourned to the New York Hotel for dinner.

The Society continued to advance in prosperity and usefulness; its membership was largely increased; the library was much enhanced by valuable additions; the stated meetings were fully attended, and a lively spirit of devotion to the cause for which they associated themselves was shown in the interest of the members generally.

On June 1, 1847, a committee of nine was appointed to solicit subscriptions to raise the sum of $50,000, to be applied to the erection of a permanent fireproof building, the subscriptions to be binding when the sum of $10,000 was subscribed.

It was resolved, on December 19, 1848, to prepare a memorial to the Legislature for an appropriation toward the erection of the proposed new building. The memorial failed to receive the favorable action of the Assembly, thirteen months later.

On Sunday morning, February 3, 1849, the smaller chapel in the University Building, the floor below the rooms of the Society, was discovered to be on fire. The prompt exertions of the inmates of the building, and of the firemen who assembled as soon as the alarm was given, saved the library and collections of the Society. During the excitement caused by the fire, the president's chair was thrown from the window and broken. This chair was purchased by Mr. Gouverneur Morris when Minister to France, at a sale of the contents of the Versailles. It was part of the furniture of Marie Antoinette, and was presented to the Society, May 6, 1817, by Mrs. Gouverneur Morris, to be used by the presiding officer.

A memorial of the Society was presented to the Corporation of the city, urging the importance of the publication of the minutes of the Common Council. A communication from the latter body was read at the meeting held April 3, 1849, stating that it was inexpedient to comply with the memorial of the Society to print the unpublished proceedings of the Common Council. After a lapse of fifty-five years, the English period of these records (1675-1776) is now in press, under the supervision of a committee of the Society, appointed in response to a second memorial addressed to the Mayor of the city, dated April 1, 1902.

The Hon. Luther Bradish, LL.D., first vicepresident since 1845, and who was very active in the advancement of the Society, succeeded the late Albert Gallatin, as the tenth president of the Society, January 2, 1850.

Mr. Bradish was born at Cummington, Mass., September 15, 1783; died at Newport, R. I., August 30, 1863. In 1826 he settled in Franklin County, N. Y., where he was a large land-owner; was member of the Assembly, 1828-30 and 1836-38; Lieutenant-Governor of the State, 1839-43; Assistant United States Treasurer at New York, 1851-52; and at his death was president of this Society and of the American Bible Society.

In 1851 the Society again memorialized the Legislature for aid in the erection of a fireproof building. The Legislature adjourned without taking any action. Four years later the committee on memorializing the Legislature was discharged.

Owing to the insufficiency of accommodations in the library, the place of meetings was changed to the small chapel of the University, on May 4, 1852.

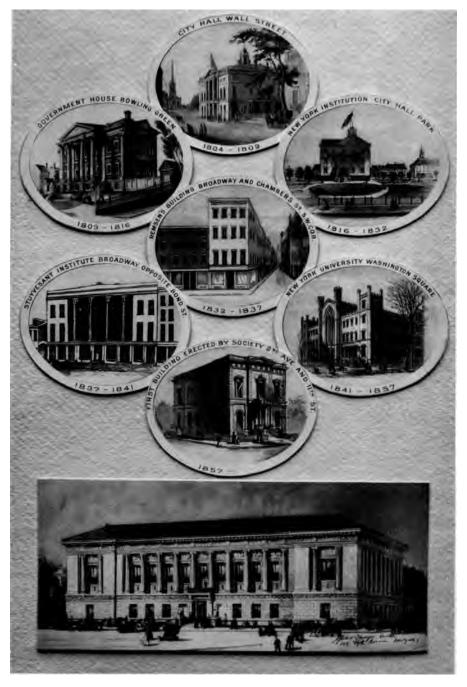

On January 4, 1853, the committee reported that paid subscriptions amounting to $34,920.40 had been received.

In the meantime the following sites for the new building were offered for consideration: Lafayette Place, west side, between Astor Place and Fourth Street; Sixteenth Street near Sixth Avenue, site of the present Everett House, East Seventeenth Street; southwest corner of Broadway and Twentieth Street, and the gore of land, Broadway, Fifth Avenue, Twenty-second to Twentythird Streets, now occupied by the Fuller Building, known as the "Flatiron."

The Society, by resolution, recommended to the favorable consideration of the Building Committee a site on Second Avenue and Eleventh Street, consisting of 55 feet on Second Avenue by 100 feet on Eleventh Street, with  $4\frac{1}{2}$  feet in width adjacent on the avenue, for air and light.

The semi-centennial celebration of the founding of the Society was held at Niblo's Saloon, November 20, 1854, at 2.30 P.M. George Bancroft delivered the address, entitled "The Necessity, the Reality, and the Promise of the Progress of the Human Race."

HOMES OF THE SOCIETY

NEW BUILDING Seventy-sixth – Seventy-seventh Streets – Central Park West

After the exercises, the Society, with their guests, proceeded to the Astor House, where they sat down to dinner at six o'clock. Thirteen regular and twelve volunteer toasts were offered. The assembly adjourned shortly after twelve o'clock.

The corner-stone of the present building was laid Wednesday, October 17, 1855, by the president of the Society, the Hon. Luther Bradish, with addresses by Frederic de Peyster, Rev. Dr. Bethune, and others. The newspapers of the day report that the stone was so large that fears were entertained that it would break down the platform, but by the aid of a derrick it was placed in position.

After overcoming many serious and almost fatal obstacles to its progress, the Society held its first meeting with dedicatory ceremonies in the present edifice, November 3, 1857; and two weeks later celebrated the fifty-third anniversary of the founding of the institution.

At the first meeing held in its new home, Mr. Benjamin R. Winthrop presented the "Washington Chair" for the use of the presiding officer of the Society. This chair was made of timber from the house occupied by President Washington in 1789, which stood at the junction of Pearl and Cherry Streets, formerly known as St. George's Square, now Franklin Square. The edifice was erected in 1770, for Walter Franklin, a well-known and highly respected citizen. The chair is of oak, neatly carved; the high back is ornamented with scroll-work, in which are appropriately wrought the initials G. W. A bust of Washington, in a wreath of laurel, forms the centre ornament of the upper part of the chair. The front of the seat bears the escutcheon and arms of the United States, while the arms of the city and State of New York are carved in relief on medallions. Mr. Winthrop, seven years later, presented similar chairs for the use of the first and second vicepresidents.

A fund was established by the Society in 1858, for the publication of its transactions and collections in American history. Of the shares of the capital stock of this fund, limited in number to one thousand, 829 have been sold. The interest of the principal is used for the publication of each successive volume. The price of the remaining 171 shares is one hundred dollars per share. Each share is transferrable on the books of the fund, and entitles the holder, his heirs, administrators or assigns to receive all the publications. Thirty volumes have been published as Collections.

The Society had acquired a small collection of portraits, and proposed to enlarge and extend their Art Collections, with a view of providing a public gallery of art in this city.

The entire collection of the New York Gallery of Fine Arts was transferred to the Society in 1858. Any notice of this collection would be deficient which should fail to commemorate the name of Luman Reed, whose taste, judgment, and generosity formed the nucleus of what may now be justly regarded as the foundation of a gallery of art. In this connection the Society was chiefly indebted to the liberality and cordial coöperation of one of their valued members, Mr. Jonathan Sturges, who was the chief promoter of the original design of the New York Gallery of the Fine Arts.

Mr. James Lenox, having acquired the Nineveh Sculptures, presented them to the Society April 5, 1859.

The Abbott Collection of Egyptian Antiquities, collected by Dr. Henry Abbott during a residence of twenty years in Cairo, became the property of the Society through some public-spirited citizens of this city in 1860. The jewelry in the collection is unique, and contains, among other articles, the gold necklace and ear-rings bearing the name of Menes, the first Pharaoh of Egypt; also the large gold signet-ring of Shoufou, or Cheops, as High Priest and King. The collection also contains three large mummies of the Sacred Bull, Apis, the only specimens known in the world.

The Society was the first to formulate a plan to establish a museum and art gallery for the public in Central Park, as may be seen by the action of the Executive Committee, August 14, 1860:

"Whereas, The position and character of the building known as the New York State Arsenal, near the southeastern corner of Central Park, point it out as a proper location for a grand museum of antiquities, science, and art;

"And, Whereas, There appears to be no existing institution whose present collections and prospects for future acquisitions seem more suitable to the occasion than this Society, the recent and prospective increase of whose museum and gallery of art already indicates the rapidly approaching necessity of a more ample provision for their accommodation;

"Therefore, mindful of their relations and duties to the citizens of New York, who have so liberally sustained all their efforts to place upon an enduring foundation the establishment of this Society as a public institution, whose collections in all departments may be accessible to all classes of the community, subject only to such regulations as may be essential for security and preservation, and anticipating cordial and universal approbation;

"Resolved, That a committee of five members, of which the president of the Society shall be a member and requested to act as chairman, be appointed to take such preliminary measures as may be advisable, with a view to securing the State Arsenal and adjoining ground in the Central Park for the museum of the Society."

A special committee was appointed, who secured the approval of the plan by the Commissioners of Central Park, and in 1862 the Society memorialized the Legislature to set apart the Arsenal Building in the Park for the proposed museum.

An act to improve Central Park was passed by the Legislature, March 25, 1862, authorizing the Commissioners to set apart and appropriate to the Society the building known as the New York State Arsenal, with such grounds adjoining as the Commissioners may determine necessary for the purpose of establishing and maintaining by the Society a museum of antiquities and science and a gallery of art. Efforts to secure the necessary funds for the promotion of the plan failed.

In consequence of the low ground and the proximity of the reservoir near the Arsenal Building, the Society urged a change to higher ground in the Park. The Legislature passed an act, April 29, 1868, setting apart for the use of the Society a site in the Park, covering Eighty-first to Eightyfourth Streets, 300 feet west of Fifth Avenue, the building to be erected at the expense of the Society.

Renewed efforts were made in 1870 to carry out the plan of the Society to establish a museum of history, antiquities, and art, by the erection of a building on the new site in the Park; but owing to the great cost of the proposed building, and the erection of the same on city property, the scheme was finally abandoned.

The Metropolitan Museum of Art occupies this site, the buildings being erected by the city at a cost of $1,000,000, and an annual appropriation from the city of $150,000 for its support.

Mr. Bradish was succeeded in the office of president by Frederic de Peyster, LL.D., who was secretary, 1827-37, and second vice-president, 1850-63, becoming the eleventh president of the Society, January 5, 1864, and serving until 1867. Mr. De Peyster was again elected president (the fifteenth) in 1873, and served until his death, which took place on August 17, 1882, in the eighty-sixth year of his age, at the residence of his son, Gen. J. Watts de Peyster, Tivoli, N. Y.

Frederic de Peyster was born in this city, No-He was a direct descendent of vember 18, 1796. Johannes de Peyster, and son of Frederic de Peyster. He was graduated at Columbia College, 1816. During the War of 1812, he served as a volunteer, with other students of the college, in the erection of fortifications at "McGown's Pass" for the defense of this city. In 1819 he was admitted to the bar, and in 1820 was appointed a Master in Chan-Shortly after his admission to the bar he cerv. was appointed a captain in the One Hundred and Fifteenth Regiment. In 1825 he was aide to Brigadier-General Fleming, and later became a member of Governor De Witt Clinton's staff. He served most faithfully in the boards of management of many charitable and educational institutions, and the instances of his liberal benefactions are numerous on their records.

During a membership in the Society covering fifty-eight years, Mr. de Peyster was its constant and ardent friend, and one of its liberal benefactors. Besides valuable donations of his own, he gave his aid effectually on more than one occasion when the very existence of the Society was at stake. In 1827, Mr. de Peyster, as agent of the Society, successfully appealed to the Legislature for an appropriation for the relief of the institution. The following letter from Mr. de Peyster reports the progress of the bill before the Legislature:

SIR: I have the pleasure of informing you that the Senate this day unanimously passed the bill appropriating five thousand dollars for the relief of the New York Historical Society.

The bill was then sent to the House; has been twice read; and is already committed. To effect a favorable result in the Assembly will, I am aware, require a great sacrifice of time and unremitted personal exertion. But animated by my success hitherto, and the fair claims of the Society for legislative aid, I am willing to encounter every obstacle, in the hope and belief of accomplishing the present undertaking.

I have the honor to be, sir, your obt. sevt.,

FREDERIC DE PEYSTER, JR.

DR. DAVID HOSACK,

Pres't N. Y. H. S.

The following resolution was adopted at a meeting held March 13, 1827:

"Resolved, That the thanks of this Society be presented to Frederic de Peyster, Jr., Esq., for his zealous, efficient, and disinterested services in proceeding to Albany and presenting to the Legislature the claims of this Society."

The Society celebrated the two hundredth anniversary of the conquest of New Netherland by an address, delivered in the hall of Cooper Union, October 12, 1864, by John Romeyn Brodhead.

The Hon. Hamilton Fish, LL.D., was elected the twelfth president of the Society at an annual meeting held January 2, 1867; and resigned March 29, 1869, to become Secretary of State of the United States.

Mr. Fish was born in this city, August 3, 1808; son of Col. Nicholas Fish. He graduated at Columbia College, 1827; admitted to the bar in 1830; member of Congress, 1843-45; Lieutenant-Governor of New York, 1847-49; Governor, 1849-51; United States Senator, 1851-57; Secretary of State, 1869-77.

After his return to this city Mr. Fish served as first vice-president of the Society from 1881 to 1888, declining a reëlection in consequence of advancing years. He died at Garrisons, New York, September 7, 1893, aged eighty-five years.

The Society is indebted to the munificence of Mr. Thomas J. Bryan for the gift, April 2, 1867, of his noble collection, so well known as the Bryan Gallery of Christian Art, which was arranged and described under his own direction. During a subsequent visit to Europe Mr. Bryan continued his purchases, still further to enrich this gallery, and the zeal and enthusiasm to which the Society is deeply indebted were uninterrupted to the time of his death, May 14, 1870.

Originally this collection was arranged for exhibition on the walls of a spacious room on Broadway, where Mr. Bryan took up his abode in the adjoining chambers. There he could be found, seated in an old-fashioned arm-chair, with his snow-white hair and florid complexion, like some old Venetian or Florentine in his ancestral palace, surrounded with pictorial heirlooms.

He found it impossible to insure his treasures, exposed as they were, without great expense. Often he lamented that there was no public gallery where they would be accessible to the people and perfectly safe. He finally placed his pictures temporarily in the Cooper Union. Six paintings including a miniature of himself by Staigg were stolen from the collection before it was received by the Society; the miniature was subsequently recovered at a curiosity shop.

The splendid results of Mr. Bryan's judicious taste and persevering liberality, thus dedicated to the public in the interest of art, are alike honorable to him, to the Society, and to the city.

The library of the Society was enriched, May 7, 1867, by the addition of the library relating to American history, of the Rev. Dr. Francis L. Hawks, purchased from the family of the Doctor and presented to the Society by Mr. William Niblo. The library is named the "Hawks-Niblo Collection."

At a stated meeting held June 1, 1869, the Rev. Thomas De Witt, D.D., second vice-president, 1840-49, first vice-president, 1850-69, and very active in the advancement of its welfare, succeeded Mr. Fish as the thirteenth president of the Society.

Dr. De Witt was born in Kingston, N. Y., September 13, 1791; died in this city, May 18, 1874. He was graduated at Union College, 1808, and from the Theological Seminary at New Brunswick, N. J., 1812. The same year he was ordained pastor of the combined congregations of Hackensack and Hopewell, Dutchess New County, N. Y., where he remained until 1827, when he accepted a call to the Collegiate Dutch Church of New York city, of which he was the senior clergyman from 1858 until his death. He was an active director of the Bible, Colonization, Tract, and Sunday-school Societies, as well as the boards of his Church. He was one of the last of the ministers of the Reformed Dutch Church who could preach in the Dutch language.

The Hon. Augustus Schell, first vice-president, and a member of the executive committee since 1845, was elected the fourteenth president of the Society, January 2, 1872.

Mr. Schell was born at Rhinebeck, N. Y., August 1, 1812, the son of Christian and Elizabeth (Hughes) Schell. He graduated with marked distinction from Union College in 1830. He was admitted to the bar of this city, October, 1832. In 1857 he was appointed by President Buchanan Collector of the Port of New York. In 1867 he was elected a member of the Constitutional Convention of the State of New York, and bore a prominent part in its most important labors. In 1872 he was appointed by Governor Hoffman a member of the Commission to propose amendments to the Constitution of the State.

During his half century of active life in New York Mr. Schell was conspicuous in most of the literary, social, and charitable institutions which have been so marked a feature of the period. He was for thirty years a most efficient member of the Board of Trustees of the New York Institution for the Blind, and since 1866 its president.

For nearly half a century Mr. Schell had been one of the most active members of the Society. As one of the executive committee from 1845 to 1872, and its chairman for twenty years, during the period of its most arduous labors and activity, and subsequently during his terms of office as president, Mr. Schell was devoted to the interests of the Society. On January 3, 1883, he was elected the sixteenth president of the Society, and served until his death, March 27, 1884.

The centennial of the Battle of Harlem Heights was celebrated September 16, 1876. The proceedings were under the charge of a Committee of One Hundred of the members of the Society. The guests were received at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, where a collation was provided, and were then escorted by the officers of the Society to the site of the battle-ground, where platforms, gayly decorated with the Continental, Union, State, and city flags, were arranged for their reception. The ground, covered with tents, presented the appearance of an encampment, and from its elevated position commanding extensive views of the North and East rivers, was visible from a great distance, presenting a scene of rare and animated beauty.

The officers and their guests arrived upon the field at the appointed hour, three o'clock in the afternoon, and were closely followed by the Seventh Regiment New York State Militia, who marched past to the position assigned them, where they halted in military formation.

The meeting was called to order by President de Peyster, who introduced the Rev. Dr. Dix, Rector of Trinity Church, who delivered the invocation, followed by the oration, delivered by the Hon. John Jay. The proceedings were closed by a benediction pronounced by the Rev. William Adams, D.D. The address of Mr. Jay was published, with an historical appendix compiled by Mr. William Kelby.

The one hundredth anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution of the State of New York (April 20, 1877), was celebrated by the Society at the Academy of Music, May 8, 1877. The address was delivered by Mr. Charles O'Conor, on "The Constitutions."

At the meeting of November 1, 1881, the subject of an appropriate celebration by the Society of the centennial anniversary of the evacuation of New York by the British, was referred to the executive committee, who, in a communication to the Mayor and Common Council, called their attention to this event, and expressed the desire of the Society to coöperate with them in a suitable celebration. Subsequently the Chamber of Commerce also asked the city authorities to take action in the matter. The event was celebrated by the city, with the coöperation of the Society, the Chamber of Commerce, and other civic and military bodies.

In 1882, one hundred and fifty paintings of the most meritorious works of art in the collection of Mr. Louis Durr, a member, were presented to the Society by his executors, in accordance with the terms expressed in his last will. The remainder of his collection was sold, and the proceeds merged in a "Durr Gallery Fund." The Durr collection is especially valuable to the Society in increasing the admirable facilities offered to the student in connection with the "Bryan Gallery."

At an annual meeting held January 6, 1885, Mr. Benjamin H. Field was elected the seventeenth president of the Society.

Mr. Field was born at Yorktown, N. Y., May 2, 1814; died in this city, March 16, 1893. He received his early education at home, and finished his studies at the North Salem Academy. Having decided to go into business he entered the office of his uncle, and in 1832 he became his partner. Among the institutions with which Mr. Field was connected as director or trustee were several banks, the New York Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, the New York Dispensary, and the Eye and Ear Infirmary. He was president of the Home for Incurables at Fordham from the time of its organization until his death.

In 1844 Mr. Field became a life member of this Society; treasurer, 1860-77; second vice-president, 1878-84; for many years a member of the executive committee, and was very active in aiding and securing the necessary funds for the erection of the present edifice.

On December 1, 1885, Mr. John S. Kennedy 63 submitted a letter from a friend of the Society, stating there was deposited with the Central Trust Company the sum of $100,000, for the purchase of a site and the erection of a building suitable for the purposes of the institution, subject to the condition that the further sum of $300,000 be secured therefor within two years from November 30, 1885.

It being found impossible to raise the amount within the time specified by the donor, Mrs. Robert L. Stuart, the Society requested an extension of twelve months, which was granted. The amount of the sum required by its conditions to be subscribed for the proposed object was reduced from $300,000 to $150,000.

The Hon. John Alsop King was elected the eighteenth president of the Society, January 4, 1887, and became chairman of the committee on subscriptions. Active measures were begun, and through the great exertion and generosity of President King the necessary sum was secured.

Hon. John Alsop King, son of Governor John Alsop King, and grandson of Hon. Rufus King, was born at Jamaica, L. I., July 14, 1817; graduated at Harvard University in 1835; studied the profession of law, and was chosen presidential elector in 1872, and member of the New York State Senate, 1874-75.

Mr. King became a member of the Society in 1881, and in 1887 was elected its president and held that office at the time of his death, November 21, 1900. He delivered the eighty-third anniversary address before the Society. The ability, grace, and dignity which were his characteristics in the discharge of the duties of his office are known to all. Endowed by nature with a kindly and generous disposition, his fine qualities were further developed by a classical education, and by intercourse with the leading men of the world.

During his whole association with The New York Historical Society, either as member or officer, he devoted himself to its interests in a singular degree. To his untiring efforts the Society owes the magnificent site selected for its future home, and it was the dream and hope of his last years that a building worthy of this venerable Society be erected thereon.

The following resolution was adopted, December 4, 1900:

"Resolved, That in the death of the Hon. John Alsop King The New York Historical Society laments the loss of an accomplished presiding officer, whose courtesy, tact, and sound judgment have stamped its proceedings with dignity; whose personality contributed largely to its prosperity, and whose unselfish devotion to its interests will be held in grateful memory by every member of this Society."

A memorial of Mr. King was read before the Society, February 5, 1901, by Dean Hoffman.

On May 21, 1889, a special committee was appointed to examine and report on a suitable site for a new building. In answer to an inquiry concerning the possible purchase of the Madison Avenue front of the Lenox Library, the Trustees of that institution advised the committee that the property was not for sale. It being found that no suitable site on the east side could be secured at a cost within the means of the Society, the committee selected the property situated on Eighth Avenue (Central Park West), consisting of ten city lots, with a frontage of 204 feet 4 inches on the avenue and a depth of 125 feet on Seventysixth and Seventy-seventh Streets, respectively. The purchase was effected June 1, 1891.

In consequence of the depression of business throughout the country, the special committee whose appointment was authorized by the Society to solicit subscriptions for the erection of the new building were unable to report any progress until 1899, when subscriptions amounting to $17,000 were received.

On the afternoon of Saturday, April 8, 1893, through the courtesy of the officers and members of the New York Cotton Exchange, the Society assembled in the large hall of the Exchange building, to celebrate the two hundredth anniversary of the introduction of the printing-press in the colony and city of New York, by William Bradford, April 10, 1693. The building of the Cotton Exchange is erected upon the site where the first newspaper was issued. The commemorative address was delivered by Mr. Charlton T. To commemorate the event the Society Lewis. erected two tablets in bronze. The first has been placed at No. 81 Pearl Street, to mark the site where the first printing-office in the city and colony of New York was established, in 1693, and reads as follows:

> On This Site William Bradford Appointed Public Printer April 10, A.D. 1693 Established The First Printing Press In The Colony Of New York Erected By The New York Historical Society April 10th, A.D. 1893 In Commemoration Of The 200th Anniversary Of The Introduction Of Printing In New York.

The second tablet was erected on the southeast corner of the New York Cotton Exchange, to mark the site where the first newspaper in New York was printed, in 1725, and read as follows:

On This Site

In Commemoration Of the 200th Anniversary Of The Introduction Of Printing In New York.

These historic sites were located by Mr. William Kelby, late Librarian of the Society, an authority on colonial New York. The Society had previously celebrated, in May, 1868, the two hundredth anniversary of the birthday of William Bradford.

The Very Rev. Eugene Augustus Hoffman, D.D., LL.D., succeeded Mr. King, as the nineteenth president of the Society, January 2, 1901.

Dean Hoffman was born in this city March 21, 1829. He was sixth in descent from Martinus Hoffman, who came from Holland to America in 1657. He graduated from Rutgers College in 1847, and in 1851 from the General Theological Seminary. During the years 1853-79 he was rector of Christ Church, Elizabeth, N. J., St. Mary's, Burlington, N. J., Grace Church, Brooklyn, and St. Mark's, in Philadelphia, respectively. In 1879 he was elected to the office of Dean of the General Theological Seminary, and filled that office until his death. He has left an enduring monument in the growth and prosperity of that institution.

As president of this Society, Dean Hoffman became chairman of the Building Committee, which committee recommended for adoption the plans submitted by Messrs. York and Sawyer, and approved by the Society, October 1, 1901. At this meeting the Society decided to erect the central portion of the new building, 135 by 115 feet. Through the active efforts and personal generosity of Dean Hoffman a large number of subscriptions were secured for the building fund.

The Society, at a meeting held October 7, 1902, adopted the following preamble and resolutions:

"Whereas, The New York Society has received the sad intelligence of the death, on June 17, 1902, of the Very Rev. Eugene Augustus Hoffman, D.D, LL.D., D.C.L., president of the Society;

"Resolved, That we wish to unite with his kindred and friends in lamenting his decease.

"Resolved, That we record with gratitude his great interest in the advancement of the Society's welfare during the years of his membership, ever actively coöperating in furthering the completion of the proposed new building of the Society.

"Resolved, That we offer our tribute of high esteem to his memory for his generous gifts to the Society during his lifetime, and are deeply sensible of his lasting interest in our institution as expressed in his latest bequest.

"Resolved, That the Society do now adjourn out of respect to the memory of our late president."

An address commemorative of Dean Hoffman was read before the Society, December 2, 1902, by the Rev. Dr. William R. Huntington.

On September 10, 1902, the informal breaking of ground for the new building took place. Mr. Samuel Verplanck Hoffman, son of the late president, raised the first spade of earth, in the presence of the recording secretary, the librarian, and one of the architects. On September 24, 1902, a contract was made for the excavations and foundations for the new building.

Mr. Samuel Verplanck Hoffman was elected the twentieth president of the Society, at an annual meeting held January 6, 1903, succeeding his father, the late Dean Hoffman.

Mr. Hoffman entered upon his duties as president with a determination to carry out the plans of his predecessors to secure for the Society the erection of a suitable building for the proper exhibition of the large collections of the institution.

The foundations for the central portion of the new building were completed, and on November 17, 1903, the officers, members, and guests assembled at two o'clock for the purpose of witnessing the laying of the corner-stone of the Society's new building.

Through the courtesy of the officers of the American Museum of Natural History, the Society was permitted to assemble in the "Wood Room" of that building, and thence proceeded to the site of the new edifice.

Upon request of the president, the Rev. Charles Edward Brugler delivered the invocation.

The president, in a short address, reviewed the history of the Society from its foundation, and read a list of the articles and publications in the copper box to be placed in the corner-stone.

The corner-stone was then laid by the Hon. Seth Low, LL.D., Mayor of the city of New York.

After the ceremonies the assembly adjourned to the lecture hall of the American Museum of Natural History, to celebrate the ninety-ninth anniversary of the founding of the Society.

The address was delivered by Mr. Hamilton W. Mabie, the subject being "The Genius of the Cosmopolitan City." The exercises concluded with the benediction, pronounced by the Rev. Alexander Hamilton.

On June 2, 1903, the Society amended Section III of the By-Laws, to constitute a new order of membership to be known as Patrons and Fellows. In accordance with this amendment, a diploma for the patrons and fellows of the Society was engraved by Mr. E. D. French, and is  $71/_2$  by  $91/_2$ inches in size. At the top, in the centre, is an heraldic eagle representing the national character of the Society, while underneath are shields containing the city and State coat of arms, surrounded by a scroll bearing the Society's name. Three medallions give views of the new building, the Half Moon in the Hudson River being the vignette used on the diploma of the Society, and an early view of New Amsterdam from the original by Block, owned by the Society, together with a suitable inscription.

The one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Society was celebrated on Tuesday evening, November 22, 1904, by a banquet at Delmonico's.

The banquet hall and dais were decorated with flowers and American flags, and the walls were adorned with the following portraits:

John Pintard, founder.

Hon. Egbert Benson, first president, 1805-15.

Hon. Gouverneur Morris, second president, 1816.

Hon. De Witt Clinton, third president, 1817-19. Hon. James Kent, fifth president, 1828-31.

Hon. Albert Gallatin, ninth president, 1843-49.

Hon. Luther Bradish, tenth president, 1850-63.

Hon. Frederic de Peyster, eleventh and fifteenth president, 1864-66, 1873-82.

Rev. Thomas De Witt, D.D., thirteenth president, 1869-71.

Hon. Augustus Schell, fourteenth and sixteenth president, 1872, 1883-84.

- Benjamin H. Field, seventeenth president, 1885-86.
- Hon. John Alsop King, eighteenth president, 1887-1900.
- The Very Rev. Eugene Augustus Hoffman, D.D., LL.D., nineteenth president, 1901-03.
- Mr. Henry Dexter, Benefactor.

Invitations were extended to the President of the United States, the Secretary of State, the Governor of the State of New York, and Mayor of the city, representatives of historical societies and universities, and delegates of the various patriotic and other societies of this city.

President Roosevelt, Secretary of State John Hay, Bishop Potter, Governor Odell, and Mayor McClellan were unable to be present.

The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. Edward B. Coe, D.D.

The following toasts were offered:

The President of the United States.

The State of New York.

The City of New York.

Our Sister Societies. Charles Francis Adams, LL.D., president of the Massachusetts Historical Society.

America of the Future. Rt. Rev. Henry C. Potter, D.D.

Popular Education. James H. Canfield, LL.D., librarian of Columbia University.

The Twentieth of November. Robert H. Kelby, librarian of the Society.

Hon. Charles V. Fornes, president of the Board of Aldermen, in the absence of the Mayor, responded to the toast, "The City of New York."

A medal in bronze and silver, designed by Mr. Victor D. Brenner, has been struck to commemorate the one hundredth anniversary, showing on the obverse the first president, Egbert Benson, and the founder, John Pintard; on the reverse, the first home of the Society, City Hall, Wall Street, and the new building now in course of erection.

į

As a fitting sequel to the efforts of the zealous friends of the Society during the past century, it is a pleasure to acknowledge the generous gift, by Mr. Henry Dexter (a member since 1863), of a sum sufficient to insure the erection of the central portion of the new building.
